GRADUATE STUDIES

Open House March 21, 2014

With over 150 graduate students and 50 graduate faculty members, Texas A&M's Department of Agricultural Economics offers the largest and most diverse agricultural economics and agribusiness graduate programs in the country.

If you are graduating in the Spring, Summer or Fall 2014 or Spring 2015, have a 3.0 in your last 60 hours, and are interested in one of our specialty areas, we would like you to visit. Let us show you our Master's degree in Agricultural Economics, Master of Agribusiness and even our Ph.D. programs. Faculty, staff and students will be available to tell you more about graduate programs. Financial Aid staff members will also be on hand to provide information.

Specialty areas include: management, marketing, finance, resource and environmental economics, policy analysis, and real estate. All areas allow opportunities to focus on the food and agribusiness sector and entrepreneurial firms.

Register for the Open House by March 14th and you will be eligible for a travel grant to cover the cost of travel and lodging up to $500.

When: March 21st
9 am- 3pm
Where: Texas A&M University,
AGLS BLDG RM 213
